No.

5. Are there functions or requirements now assigned you which are beyond your present capacity to perform? If so, give an indication of the number of additional personnel required to perform such functions.

No.

Of course, in respect to the O&M function, one could add a couple of dozen more, but it doesn't make any sense. The Agency should be able to get along with what we have. The cuts indicated above we can cut modestly, without any real flow of blood.
